A Scene at the Playground

A girls' volley ball game in progress at the Narberth Community Playground. This is but one of the numerous activities which make the grounds a hive of interest through the summer months.

Narberth Playground, One of Finest in Area, Was Once Rat-Infested, Unsightly Dump

Ten years ago a public dump; today one of the best equipped, most attractive and widely used playgrounds in the Philadelphia area—that is the history in brief of the Narberth Community Playground.

One must go back a decade to see how this metamorphosis came about. Shortly after the United States Government turned back the railroads of the country to their owners, the Pennsylvania found itself with several pieces of real estate on its hands. One of these was the piece of land in Narberth bounded by the railroad, Wynnewood Avenue and Windsor Avenue. As soon as it was placed on the market civic consciousness began to function with the dual idea of removing an unsightly nuisance and at the same time acquire a spacious outdoor community center.

As the Spectator put it, in describing how the playground came into being, in the fifteenth anniversary edition of "Our Town" two years ago, "it took a fair share of imagination, of course, to see a pretty place rise out of the wretched dump that was there, a veritable pest-hole, foul with odors, frequently on fire and swarming with cat-like rats, but the necessary vision abounded all about us, and meetings were underway practically overnight."

Bond Issue Passed

But to shorten the story, a group of thoroughly public-spirited citizens got together and put up the railroad's price of $22,000 and held the bag until a bond issue could be approved by the voters. This was done at the election on November 8, 1921, by a five-to-one vote though the results of it all were nullified by a defective ballot. Not disheartened, its protagonists went right ahead and at a special election in February, the $30,000 issue was approved by an even greater majority, 8 to 1. Thus the ground became Borough

Mexico Intriguing to Narberth Woman; Says People Resent Our High-Hat Attitude

"A most thrilling experience," was the way Miss Ellen S. Brinton, of 127 Merion Avenue, Narberth, field secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, summed up her visit to Mexico this summer from which she returned just recently.

Three weeks of her trip were spent in Mexico City attending the sixth annual session of the Seminar in Mexico conducted under the auspices of the Committee on Cultural Relations with Latin America. "It was worse than a circus trying to take in everything," said Miss Brinton in describing the strenuous round of lectures, luncheons, dinners, sightseeing and shopping tours. "There were so many interesting events going on all the time we didn't want to miss any of them."

Award Prizes Today

This afternoon is the annual "Play Day" at the Narberth Community Playground. All prizes won throughout the entire summer will be presented, including the old "Y" cup to the winning baseball team. A special program of races and events has also been planned. A feature of the afternoon will be a big treasure hunt.

Story of Veterinary Corps Told at Rotary

Dr. Raymon Staley Relates History of Less Known Phase of War.

NO DISEASE IN ANIMALS

The inside story of one of the less-known phases of the World War was learned Tuesday by members of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. The speaker, Dr. Raymon M. Staley, discussed the Veterinary Corps of the United States Army.

Before the outbreak of war, he said, there was no veterinary service. The veterinarians in the army had no rank, although a few were of a high type. These, with civilians, formed the nucleus of the present corps.

When war was felt to be coming, Dr. C. J. Marshall, of the University of Pennsylvania, was selected by the Government to study the methods of the allied armies and make recommendations. As a result of a trip to the scene of conflict, a modification of the British method was decided on.

Dr. Staley was a member of the advisory board formed in Washington to codify veterinary plans for the Army

Football Practice at L. M. Opens Monday

Musselman and Lincoln to Assist Coach Mattis With Jr. High Squad.

THREE REGULARS BACK

Football practice at Lower Merion will commence on Monday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. At this time all candidates for this year's team will report to Coach Albert Adam on the Pennypacker Field at the rear of the high school.

Coach Dick Matti's Junior High School squad will have its initial practice on Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Candidates are to report at the main entrance promptly so that practice may begin at once.

This year Mr. Matti will be assisted by two other members of the Junior High School Faculty, Lloyd Musselman and Roger Lincoln. Mr. Musselman will continue to handle the reserve squad while Mr. Lincoln will assist the coach. He is a new addition to the faculty, coming from State College where he played end one year on the varsity football team.

Many Mortgages Paid Off by B. & L. Plan

Checks From One to Ten Thousand Dollars Received From Narberth Assoc.

NEW SERIES TO OPEN

Many Narberth people have had their mortgages paid off and many others have received checks for amounts from one thousand dollars to ten thousand dollars during this past year, in matured stock from the Narberth Building and Loan Association.

When these people started their systematic saving, their goal looked a long distance away, but from the moment the checks were received the backward distance did not seem a very long time.

A monthly payment of a few dollars is never missed, and if people would only start the Building and Loan habit they too would reach their goal and

New Closing Hour Saturday

Narberth's post office will close 1 P. M. Saturdays hereafter, conforming with the new 44-hour week provided for clerks and carriers. Before July 1 their working hours were 48. The regular box collection will be made Saturday afternoon, and special delivery mail will be delivered as usual. The post office lobby will be open to boxholders, but there will be no window service.

Vacation Schedule

Until September 8, calls about advertisements and news items will be handled from the Ardmore office of this paper. The local offices will be open for only part of the week. Instead of phoning Cynwyd 811 or Narberth 2545 during this vacation period, kindly phone Ardmore 3100, where the usual office hours prevail.

Penn State Favorite with L. M. Graduates

Nine Boys to Enter There This Fall; Five Are Going to Penn.

HAVERFORD CLAIMS 3

Of the colleges chosen by boys of the 1931 graduating class of Lower Merion High School, Penn State seems to be the favorite. Nine of last June's graduates will matriculate there this fall. They are Lloyd Beyer, Fred Robb, Murray Patton, Robert Graham, Richard Sigel, Gordon Wolf, Seaver Rose, Pearson Deubler and William Craft.

Pennsylvania has claimed the allegiance of five of last year's grads. They are John Pennypacker, Robert Smith, Horace Dolan, McCarthy Hanger and Ted Loder.

Three Lower Merion boys will enter Haverford, William Azpell, Meredith Colket and William McIntire, while two, James Turner and James Alburger, will attend that other nearby Quaker college, Swarthmore. Cason Rucker has chosen the orange and black of Princeton, while Wilson Weeks will enter another of the "big three," Harvard.

New England institutions have claimed several Lower Merion boys. To Massachusetts Institute of Technology will go Richard Winger; to Dartmouth, Wesley Watt; to Connecticut Wesleyan, Whitfield Bell and Harris Latta. James Bailey has chosen Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute, James Donnelly will enter Dickinson and Jack Rockwell, Kenyon.

The University of Michigan at Ann Arbor will get Howard Thompson and Lewis Meyers; Charles Leuders will matriculate at Temple, Robert Bouson at Lehigh and John Delvigne at Villanova, completing the roster.

Eight Games Scheduled for Junior High Football Team

Edward H. Snow, Principal of Lower Merion Junior High School, this week announced the football schedule of the school for this season. Although, during the two years of football at the Junior High School, the team has suffered but one defeat and that at the hands of the reserve team of Swarthmore Prep, this year's schedule appears to be particularly stiff.

October 2, Ridley Park Junior High School, at Ardmore; October 8, Collingdale Junior High School, at Ardmore; October 16, Pottstown Junior High School, at Pottstown; October 23, West Chester Junior High School, at West Chester; October 30, Haverford Junior High School, at Ardmore; November 6, Edison Junior High School, at Harrisburg; November 12, Radnor Junior High School, at Radnor; November 20, Upper Darby Junior High School, at Ardmore.

Narberth Theatre News

Dramatic tale of family life, Charles G. Norris' "Seed" is at Narberth's theatre this Friday and Saturday nights, featuring John Boles, Genevieve Tobin and Lois Wilson. Saturday's matinee feature will be Rex Beach's exciting "Silver Horde," starring Louis Wolheim, Jean Arthur and Evelyn Brent.

"The Maltese Falcon," Narberth's feature next Monday and Tuesday, is the fairly exciting story of the struggle by Ricardo Cortez, Bebe Daniels and others for a costly talisman.

Lowell Sherman and Irene Dunne lead a good cast in "Bachelor Apartment," comedy romance, coming to Narberth Wednesday and Thursday.

Constance Bennett in "Born to Love" will be the borough's feature next Friday and Saturday. At the Saturday matinee Wheeler and Woolsey will amuse in "Cracked Nuts."

At the Egyptian

"Vice Squad," at the Egyptian this week-end, is an entertaining tale of gangdom featuring Paul Lukas and Kay Francis. In its place at the Saturday afternoon children's party Rube Goldberg's "Soup to Nuts," a funny comedy, will be shown.

"Up for Murder," at Cynwyd next Monday and Tuesday, has a fairly good plot and quite good acting by Lew Ayres and Genevieve Tobin.

Norman Foster, Carole Lombard, Skeets Gallagher, et al., amuse in "Up Pops the Devil," due at the Egyptian Wednesday and Thursday.

And on Friday and Saturday next Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter will appear in one of the year's most pleasing shows, "Daddy Long Legs."

To Back Mowrer

An ex-service men's committee is being organized in the borough to advocate the candidacy of ex-service men for public office. This group will work for the candidacy of John Mowrer, Jr., for Borough Council. The personnel of the committee will be announced next week.

Lower Merion Healthy

Lower Merion's health continued good as but six cases of contagious diseases were reported by the Township Health Officer, Marvin E. Reynolds, for the week ending August 21. These were four in mumps and one each of tuberculosis and whooping cough.

Help Neighbors in Distress

The Main Line Federation of Churches is grateful to the children of the Daily Vacation Bible School for 300 pairs of shoes repaired for distribution among needy families. Layettes were also made for the Society Service Department of the Bryn Mawr Hospital. It is such co-operation and encouragement from everyone that help alleviate worry and want in our community.

The Federation of Churches still needs help. The number of people who responded to its appeal during the last month has been 155.

Contributions to help wipe out the Federation's deficit of $2,297 to October 1 will be gratefully received.

More Work for Mr. Lloyd

National recognition of the talents of Horatio Gates Lloyd, of Haverford, as an organizer and worker in the field of relief was accorded with his appointment by President Hoover last week to serve on the advisory committee in the unemployment relief organization headed by Walter S. Gifford.

It was not so long ago that our Main Line neighbor was drafted by the City of Philadelphia to head the Committee for Unemployment Relief after it had begun to wander about in the quagmire of political incompetence. Mr. Lloyd proceeded to place the City's Committee on as sound and secure a footing as was his own informal group with which it was merged. For his labors in directing the unemployment relief work of the city he receives the munificent sum of $1 per year and the title of Relief Administrator of the City of Philadelphia.

Mr. Lloyd is to be congratulated upon his public-spirited nature and his readiness to help in a cause where such help as he can give is needed most desperately.

A Most Timely Subject

A friend down the street stopped us today. He was full of conversation on various topics, and full of sniffles due to his annual encounter with hay fever. Finally he replaced his handkerchief in his hip pocket and said:

"Please do a favor to me and to hundreds of my fellow-sufferers and urge the Main Line authorities to wage a battle on the high weeds which have flourished this year in the heavy rainfall."

Not a bad idea, at all, we thought. For one thing, while such ideas require money, two results would be accomplished: a number of unemployed scythe artists could be put to work, and a number of sniffers given partial relief.

In the spring a great deal of artificial work was made to help the unemployed. A lot of it was misdirected. Brush and trees were removed from parkland thickets that should have been undisturbed as a harboring place for birds and small animals. Attractive winding streams, sneaking in and out of brush-covered banks were carefully directed into civilized and uninspired courses. Dead trunks were cut up to make woodlands look like lawns. It gave some jobs, but Nature will have to work hard for some years to undo the damage.

Weeds growing rampant over vacant lots, encroaching on pavements and catching every passing newspaper cannot be classed with the works of nature. The complaint arises every year, not only from hay fever victims, but from every resident who dislikes ugly spots—and there are plenty of them in the very centers of the various Main Line communities.

An immediate and thorough cleanup would be welcomed by everyone. The Boards of Health might well take the initiative, compelling the owners, where possible, to do the job, and in other cases sending a crew of men out to destroy the weeds. The expense—and it would cost a substantial amount, would return to the benefit of those who would be employed to do the work.

So long as stores and newspapers are permitted to toss their sheets from moving cars to every hedge and lawn along the way, those papers are going to blow around to lodge sooner or later in doorways and vacant lots. Most of us may be broke, but the Main Line should not look unkempt.

And, with election time approaching, the group which would sponsor such a move, and encourage its immediate performance, could count on a solid block of votes from the hay fever victims. And that is something well worth considering.

The weather may stay hot or blow cold, but the advent of Fall has been heralded by Coach Mattis, of the Lower Merion Junior High School, whose call for football practice Monday has gone out.

In the Theater

Another Opener Is

Scheduled at Hedgerow

The coming week offers another Saturday night opening at the Hedgerow Theatre. This time it is an American propagandistic play of regional disaster, "Can You Hear Their Voices?" written by Hallie Flanagan and Margaret Clifford, and originally produced by the Experimental Theatre of Vassar College. Billed with it on Saturday night is a one-act curtain raiser called "Champagne" by Perez.

The remainder of the week will offer Lynn Riggs' tragedy of light out of darkness, "A Lantern to See By," on Tuesday evening. Joseph Taulane, William Price, Miriam Phillips and Dudley Vaughan are in the chief roles. On Wednesday night there will be another performance of Valency's "Whirlpool," the last addition to the repertory, a play that concerns itself with multiplicity and transference of personality; with Walter Sheldon, Irvin Poley and Helen Craig acting the individuals caught in the whirlpool of psychological entanglements. On Thursday night will be given the highly entertaining Moliere comedy, "The Physician in Spite of Himself," while on Friday the bill will be Shaw's eternally provocative study of the elastic and inelastic New England conscience, "The Devil's Disciple," with William Price, Isobel Murdoch and Alfred Rowe in leading characterizations.

Tonight's play at Hedgerow is Synge's Irish comedy, "The Playboy of the Western World," and tomorrow's "Roadside," by Lynn Riggs.

Narberth Legion Post Well Represented at Convention

The Harold D. Speakman Post, of Narberth, was well represented at the thirteenth annual convention of the American Legion of Pennsylvania held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Easton.

John A. Mowrer, Jr., was the official delegate of the Narberth Post, while other members and representatives of the Post's Auxiliary attending included Commander Frank A. Schrepfer, Mr. and Mrs. Roland K. Hewitt, Miss Emma Mueller and Mrs. Margaret Derby.

A resolution presented by Mr. Schrepfer to the convention to amend the existing relief laws so that dependents of totally and permanently disabled veterans would receive the same annuities as are given to dependents of men killed in action, was unanimously adopted. It will next be presented to the National Convention of the Legion.

At the second annual reunion dinner of the second A. E. F. the Legionnaires who attended the reunion in Paris in 1927, Allan Shubert, of 3 Iona Avenue, Narberth, was elected a vice chairman.

Restoring old church. The old Methodist Episcopal Church, at Conestoga Road above County Line Road, Radnor, erected in 1833, is receiving a new roof, stucco is being removed from the walls and the stone cleaned and pointed. Rotted lintels are being replaced and a kitchen will be added in the basement. The restoration work is expected to be completed by the first Sunday in October. Rededication services, at which Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, of the Philadelphia district, will speak, will be held on October 25.

Another optimist is a bridegroom who has already begun to plan for his tenth wedding anniversary.

THE FIRESIDE

Miss Mildred E. Gilfillan, of Wynwood Road, who has been spending a week in Atlantic City as the guest of Miss Vera M. Delzell, has returned to the Pocono Mountains where she and her mother are spending the summer.

Miss Lois Nealy, of 107 Dudley Avenue, returned this week from Camp St. Joseph, New York.

Mr. Charles Decker, of Wyndale Avenue, has returned from abroad, reaching New York last week on the Berengaria. He attended a banquet at which he was presented to the Lord Mayor of London and the Sheriffs. It was a brilliant affair, officers in their military uniforms, the consuls wearing their decorations. Five different kinds of wine were served.

Mr. and Mrs. George Norman Gill, of Dudley Avenue, left Tuesday on a brief trip to Springfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Knapp, of Beechwood Lane, will have as their guests over the Labor Day week-end Mrs. Knapp's mother and sister, Mrs. Emma B. Elder and Miss Elaine Elder, of Ridgway, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Bovee, of Forest Avenue, had as their guests last week Mrs. Flora King, of Steubenville, O., and Miss Daisy Bash, of Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Cheeseman, of Pittsburgh, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Caryl E. Starr, of Merion Avenue. Mrs. Starr also has as a guest her mother, Mrs. H. C. Estep.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Elwood and daughter, Phyllis, of Sabine Avenue, have just returned after a two weeks' vacation at Cape May.

Miss Margaret Mulligan and her sister, Elizabeth, have just returned from a week's vacation at Atlantic City. Miss Dorothy Mulligan also spent the week-end at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Nulty and their three children, of Meeting House Lane, will return on Monday from Cape May where they have spent the month of August. Miss Alice Maguire, of Grayling Avenue, who was their guest during that time, will also return with them.

Mrs. Nulty has had her brother, Joseph Maguire, and his young son, of South Ardmore, as guests during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Heckel and their son, Bobby, of Sabine Avenue, are leaving today to spend ten days at Ocean City.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leins and their two children, of Meeting House Lane, are spending this week at Cape May.

Mrs. Joseph H. Maguire, of Grayling Avenue, has just returned from a week's stay with her daughter at Cape May.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Greenwald, of Essex Avenue, spent the week-end at New York City visiting Mrs. Greenwald's brother. Mrs. Greenwald has had her young niece, Mary Jane Lawler, of Pittsburgh, as her guest for two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Boyle and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wallace, of Conway Avenue, are vacationing in Atlantic City for about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Rushton, of Homewood Avenue, are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, Joan, on July 26. Mrs. Rushton before her marriage was Miss Wilma Weigel.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pitcher, of Forrest Avenue, have been touring New England the past two weeks, terminating their trip in a visit with friends in Provincetown, Mass.

Miss Emma and Miss Alice Barr are returning to their home on Woodbine Avenue next week after a summer spent in Buffalo, New York, as guests of their niece.

Miss Mary B. Church, librarian of the Narberth Library, is enjoying a well-earned vacation of two weeks at Byndenwood, while her assistant, Miss Frances Christ, assumes charge of the work. Miss Ingeborg Thaysen, of

Christian Science Topic

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 30. The Golden Text is, "We know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ" (I John 5:20).

Among the citations from the Bible is the following: "Fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:2, 5).

MRS. DOROTHY VON KESSLER

Funeral services for Mrs. Dorothy Stoll von Kessler, of Narberth, who died last Tuesday in Jefferson Hospital following a brief illness, were held Friday morning in the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul.

Mrs. von Kessler, an accomplished musician who had taught music in schools of the city was a daughter of William Stoll, Jr., orchestra leader, and Jane Stoll, a soloist. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. E. Stanley Perkins, of Germantown; Mrs. Charles V. Hemsley, of Narberth, and Mrs. S. Mitchell, of Swarthmore, and by two brothers, H. Leon Stoll, of Harrisburg, and William J. Stoll, of Lansdowne. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

EMILY BELL

Funeral services were held Saturday for Miss Emily Bell, who died last Wednesday at her summer home in Bryn Mawr.

Miss Bell, who lived for many years at 1428 Spruce Street, was active in philanthropic and civic associations. She was at one time president of the Travelers' Aid Society and vice president of the New Century Club.

REV. JAMES J. MCCARTHY

The Rev. James J. McCarthy, vice president of Villanova College from 1903 to 1905, died at North Troy last Thursday. He was fifty-eight years old and had been ill four months.

He was pastor of St. Augustine's Church, North Troy for fifteen years. He had been pastor of churches at Carthage, Waterford, Greenwich and Hoosick Falls.

Narberth Woman Says Mexicans Resent Attitude

Miss Brinton is most enthusiastic about the country, and while she doesn't want it to become tourist-ridden, she is urging all her friends to visit it who haven't been there. Splendid electric trains, excellent meals, fine highways, cheap bus service, magnificent scenery, beautiful churches and courteous, interesting people are but a few of the attractions the country offers to the tourist. The railways are among the best in the world, according to Miss Brinton. "In fact, we didn't see any dirt or dust on the trains until we got back to New York," she said.

The Mexican people interested Miss Brinton immensely. "They are all of a darker, swarthy hue, due to the mixture of Indian blood in the people, but there is no color prejudice and they are proud of their Indian heritage. . . . We felt conspicuous on account of our white skins, as though we were bleached and underdone. . . . The Mexicans are craftsmen, skilled artists, and can do marvelous things with their hands which are impossible to us."

The attitude of the Mexican people towards Americans was described by Miss Brinton as very courteous. When pinned down, and asked what they really thought, many Mexicans expressed dislike on account of our high-hat and superior attitude. This overbearing attitude is resented generally in Mexico, Miss Brinton said.

Bandits are scarcer in Mexico than gunmen in the United States, according to Miss Brinton. There are no armored cars to carry money about, and "people were amazed when we told them all the precautions that are taken on this account in the United States," she said. Silver is the universal form of exchange, there being no paper money. One sees men carrying loads of silver about on their backs through the streets. The banks all provide bags to carry the silver money in. "For $10 we would receive 40 silver pesos, each about the size of an American silver dollar."

The altitude (it was 7800 feet above sea level at Mexico City) took a little time to get used to. Miss Brinton told an amusing incident about a basketball game which was gotten up between the young American men in the party and a team of Indian boys. After five minutes of play the Americans were completely out, their faces were purple, and they were stretched out on the grass. "I just can't get any air," one of them remarked ruefully. The weather, though, was invariably cool and comfortable, averaging in temperature about 60 degrees.

Lost—August 15th

On Haverford Avenue, in Narberth, 5-year old male Boston Terrier. Mahogany color with 4 white feet. Had white collar with 1931 Penna. License No. 15107. Answers to name of "Boots." Phone owner at Merion 1282 or Trinity 8200.

A week before the Seminar in Mexico City opened Miss Brinton spent in Yucatan, the peninsula in the southern part of Mexico, where the treasures of an ancient Indian civilization are being unearthed.

Following the Seminar, the groups split up, and the one Miss Brinton was with visited an undeveloped part of the country which proved to be very fascinating.

This was Miss Brinton's second visit to Mexico. She attended the Seminar and Pan-American conference there last summer and being so enthusiastic about the country seized this opportunity to return.

Her work as field secretary of the Women's International League has taken her to Europe and on speaking trips throughout the Middle Atlantic States.

'City Planning Makes Good Citizens'—A Book Review of Civic Interest

(Principles of City Planning. Karl B. Lohman, $3.50, 6x9 1/4", 395 pp., illustrated. New York. McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc.)

By FRANK A. SCHREFFER

There is reason for regret in the thought that the title of this extremely interesting and informative book may discourage potential readers. It is equally probable, however, that the thoughtful reader will welcome the word "Principles" as it gives assurance of a substantial foundation for the body of information every urban and suburban dweller should possess.

The past seventy years have witnessed a profound change in the distribution of population in this country. In 1860 we were essentially an agricultural nation, with only three per cent. of the population living in towns and cities. In 1931 we are an industrialized nation, with 56 per cent. of the population living under urban conditions. This movement of people from farms to cities has been called the "Urban Drift." It brought with it problems of social, industrial and political readjustment. Failure to provide for, or solve these problems has left us with a staggering burden of inefficiency in government, unhealthy living conditions, handicapped business, fostered crime and lawlessness and forces us to live in ugly and sordid surroundings.

These evils could have been avoided, in part at least, and may still be corrected or alleviated by intelligent planning for our towns and cities. The welfare of individuals as well as of the community is at stake, and every intelligent property owner, business or professional man, as well as every parent or teacher, should be familiar with this problem and the methods and means of solving it. This, in brief, is the thesis of the book, and Professor Lohman adequately provides the basic materials for study and analysis.

Defining City Planning as the "effort to control, guide and accomplish the physical development of towns and cities" the book presents a short sketch of the history of efforts to provide a logical and orderly city organism by planning. The purpose of City Planning is "to promote efficiency and economy in city government, convenience and safety, increased health and happiness for the inhabitants, and an increase in the beauty of the surroundings." Thus, "the aims of City Planning are hygienic, economic, social, esthetic and ethical" and it is "foresight, common sense and good business judgment applied to cities."

The present interest in the movement in our own section, to provide for adequate survey and planning by township and borough, makes this book of peculiar and timely significance. The chapters on "zoning," "land subdivision," "parks," "playgrounds" and "housing" will be of special importance. With practically all of us going into the city at regular and frequent intervals and suffering the inconvenience and losses due to traffic congestion, the chapters on "street systems," "traffic control" and "transit" will be pertinent. Manufacturers and business men will find food for thought and reflection under the headings, "railroads and the city plan," "systems of utilities" and "sea, lake and river ports." "Airports" is a chapter at once significant and appealing in this air-minded age. Welfare worker, publicist and plain citizen will be interested in "the beautiful in the city plan," "educational and promotive work" and "paying for the city plan." The lawyer will want to know about "legal authority for city planning." And so it goes for the full twenty-four chapters. There is detail, special discussion and general information. The material is authentic and authoritative.

The author has succeeded in accomplishing the prefatorial hope that, while "the volume is intended to be of service to those who are studying and teaching city planning, city officials, members of zoning commissions—it is hoped that the book may be helpful to the citizen who is interested in the improvement of town or city and is desirous of knowing more about this subject."

This book is unquestionably the best treatment of the subject, for the non-technical reader, that has appeared to date. It belongs in every community library as a standard of reference work, and in the home of every progressive citizen. It is interesting, convincing, concise and adequate. In form, it is essentially a text, but the academic device of listing complete references at the end of each chapter is of tremendous value in enabling the reader to go fully into any phase of the subject in which he may be interested. Statistics are there for those who appreciate precise information. More than one hundred and fifty pictures, diagrams and drawings aid in visualizing the written material. A feature of unusual interest is the large number of aerial views, so helpful in presenting ideas of plan relationships over large areas.

Professor Lohman's style is fluent and readable. It does not conceal his enthusiasm, nor does the necessarily brief discussion of some phases have the profound knowledge of the author.

Professor Lohman is a native of Pennsylvania, a graduate of State College and of the Harvard Graduate School of Landscape Architecture. He has had a wide professional as well as academic experience. At present he is Professor of Landscape Architecture, in charge of city planning courses in the newly formed College of Fine and Applied Arts of the University of Illinois. He is a member of the American Society of Landscape Architects, American City Planning Institute, National Conference on City Planning and the American Civic Association.

During the preparation of the book, Professor Lohman spent a year in studying methods and accomplishments in various sections of the country. His visit to this region is reflected in the many references to the Philadelphia region shown in the complete and helpful index.

Had No License

Charged with operating an automobile without a license Maria Maelhoff, of 1268 Montgomery Avenue, Narberth, was arrested last Friday morning when her car skidded into the machine driven by J. J. Mitchell, of 519 Homewood Avenue, Narberth, at the intersection of Essex and Sabine Avenues, in Narberth. Neither driver was injured, the cars being slightly damaged. Miss Maelhoff was released on her own recognizance for a further hearing before Magistrate Fred Walzer.

Ardmore Nine Withdraws

The Merion Fire Company of Ardmore withdrew from the Police-Fireman Baseball League last week following a meeting of the team managers in which the Ardmore nine's claim of a forfeit from Cynwyd was not granted. At the time of its withdrawal, the Merion Fire Company was tied for the league lead with the Narberth Fire Company. The schedule for the remainder of the season will be revised and the remaining three teams will play it out.

Bryn Mawr Winner

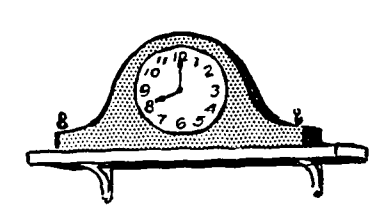

Bryn Mawr defeated Lansdowne, 18-3, in a Main Line League contest last Saturday, thereby remaining in the thick of the fight for the second-half title. Gazella was the batting star for the winners with a triple, double and three singles.

Guardman fined. Charges of reckless driving and failure to have a driver's license resulted in a fine of $30 for John Kent Kane, Jr., of Frazer, at a hearing before Magistrate Meredith at Ardmore police station on Monday night. Kane was arrested several weeks ago on his way to the National Guard camp at Mount Gretna.

What do you think of this and that? If it is of Main Line interest, why not write your community paper about it?

Pretty soon the fall flower shows.

Time to set out strawberry plants.

Disbud chrysanthemum stems and feed the plants.

Just the best time of all to move evergreens.

Bone meal is a good fertilizer, as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough. The necessary element, potash, is supplied by unleached Canadian hardwood ashes as furnished by the seed supply house. Ashes from our fireplaces contain practically no potash and are not worth the labor of spreading.

If you want good dahlia tubers for next year see that real hardwood ashes are dug into the soil, about a foot away from the stems. It is not too late to feed them now as the tubers will be built up between now and frost, usually about October 15.

Gardeners who have grown the Golden Marguerite, known as Anthemis Tinctoria Kelwayi, will be delighted with the new form—Perry's variety. Here is a satisfactory, summer flowering, yellow daisy that is good for cutting. Put it on your fall planting list.

Artimisia lactiflora, or Hawthorne scented mugwort, if you prefer, is a most satisfactory perennial for late summer cutting. Fragrant, creamy-white, four feet tall, it does well in partial shade and the foliage blends beautifully with that of delphinium when they are arranged together.

Delphiniums require just about sixty days to flower again. June 20, August 20 and October 20—hard frost permitting. They were fine at Paoli last week. And what other perennial gives so much?

Early September is peony planting time, and also Oriental poppy planting time. September is also delphinium planting time. In fact, most all spring-flowering perennials may be planted in September.

Hardy ferns are readily transplanted in September but should not be too deeply planted. And leave spaces in between to plant the early, spring-flowering, hardy bulbs. Otherwise the fern bed will be bare until May. The foliage of the fading bulbs will be covered by the fern fronds.

Early September is a good time to start to build a rock garden—if you have a place for it—and can procure weathered rocks—and know how to lay them so that they look as if they had always been there—and provided that you know how to select the proper plants for each crevice—and also provided that you have the necessary "rocks" to finance the job. Otherwise better wait until we buy that place out in the country with the natural rock garden on it.

American Historical Fiction Now Easily Found at Library

The Narberth library has received recently a specially selected bibliography of American historical fiction. This will be of assistance not only to the librarians but also to the high school pupils in their search for books of fiction based on events in American History.

The list was compiled for the Narberth library by Miss Clara Follette, who will be remembered as assistant librarian at the library until June when she left to take a course in library training at Temple University. One of the projects assigned to her was the preparation of a bibliography which would be of practical value in a small library. Her experience in Narberth suggested the history list, and after its approval by her instructors who commended it highly, she presented it to the local library.

The pamphlet is a well typewritten list of books grouped under various periods of American history, such as the Colonial period, the Revolution, the period of expansion, etc., and includes a list of the sources used, with an index of the symbols employed. The compilation is of general value, for many readers enjoy a well-written story with a historical background, and to make it of greater value to local readers, Miss Follette has prepared an appendix which lists the titles of books now available at the local library.

Model of Water Reservoir to Be Exhibited Soon

A detailed model of the gigantic Crum Creek reservoir of the Philadelphia Suburban Water Co., in Marple Township, Delaware County, will go on a tour of exhibition soon, officials of the Water Company announced recently.

The model is an exact reproduction of the huge engineering structure, which holds in reserve over 4,000,000 gallons of Springfield water for the protection and service of residents in the 300 square-mile area in Delaware, Chester and Montgomery Counties.

Continuous Laboratory Analyses

Insures

the SAFETY of

PURE SPRINGFIELD WATER

EVERY drop of Springfield Water you drink is protected by an elaborate system of laboratory checking that detects and eliminates the slightest impurities.

A small army of chemists are constantly engaged in making minute analyses of water samples daily, taken from hundreds of points along the vast distributing system.

The health of a great community covering over 300 square miles in Delaware, Chester and Montgomery Counties, depends upon their ability to detect the slightest impurities in water in both its raw and finished state.

We, therefore, have spared no expenses in organizing a laboratory checking system that knows no equal. Each filter plant has its own laboratory and chemist, where constant tests are made, and later checked in a central laboratory that makes hundreds of thousands of water examinations annually to make Springfield Water SAFE BEYOND DOUBT.

Metropolitan district. The Main Line, together with the rest of Montgomery, Delaware, Chester, parts of Bucks Counties and sections of New Jersey, is included in the Philadelphia metropolitan district as outlined by the U. S. Bureau of the Census. The district extends as far west as Malvern, as far north as Hatfield, south to include Chester and takes in many Jersey communities across the Delaware.

Injured in collision. A Cynwyd man, W. H. Titus, of 312 Kent Road, suffered injuries to the face and body when his automobile figured in a collision with a car driven by a Philadelphian on the Black Horse Pike near Runnemede, N. J., Saturday night. Titus was taken to the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital for treatment.

Atterbury was indignant. A small amount of rye whisky and champagne on the yacht of W. W. Atterbury, of Radnor, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was seized and destroyed by customs officials at Ketchikan, Alaska, it became known this week. An Alaskan law, "prohibiting possession in any form of intoxicants," was cited as the cause of the seizure. Mr. Atterbury was said to be indignant.

Dies while golfing. Charles Wheeler, of Radnor House, Mill and Conestoga Roads, Bryn Mawr, died of heart failure while playing golf on the east course of the Merion Cricket Club on Saturday. Mr. Wheeler, who was 62, was president of Wheeler & Co., investment bankers. He was a Harvard graduate, class of 1890, a member of the Art Alliance, Merion Cricket Club, Radnor Hunt, Acorn Club and Philadelphia Club. Funeral services were held on Tuesday.

At Holland conference. Two members of the Bryn Mawr College faculty, Dr. Susan M. Kingsbury and Dr. Mildred Fairchild, are participating in the World Social Economic Conference which opened Sunday at Amsterdam, Holland. Its aim: to find a way out of the world's present economic situation.

No joke. John Hobson, a storekeeper north of Wayne, thought it was just a joke when a colored man for whom he was making change on a pack of cigarettes Saturday night told him to hand over his money. Sight of another gun in the hands of the colored man's companion caused him to change his mind and he handed over the money bag containing $75. Members of the State Highway Patrol at Berwyn are looking for the two rob-

Bracelet missing. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Donovan, of 266 Winding Way, Merion, reported the loss of a diamond and emerald bracelet, valued at $15,000, from their apartment in a hotel in New Hampshire to Philadelphia police in order that a description of it might be broadcast.

Asleep at the wheel. Peter Di Gugilio, of Simpson Avenue, Ardmore, was adjusting the motor of a truck early last Friday morning on Lancaster Avenue near Green Hill Farms when an automobile driven by Earl S. Winter, of Westfield, N. J., struck him. Di Gugilio was taken to the Bryn Mawr Hospital with a fractured arm and other injuries. Winter is said to have admitted falling asleep while driving. He was held in $500 bail by Magistrate Meredith for a further hearing this Friday evening.

Wife executrix. Mrs. Margaret Dinkey, widow of Alvah C. Dinkey, late of Wynnewood, is named executrix of his will filed for probate at Norristown. It disposes of an estate valued at $875,000. Bequests of $50,000 are made to each of the three children, Robert C. Dinkey, Alvah C. Dinkey, Jr., and Leonora S. Dinkey. The residuary estate is left in trust for his widow and at her death reverts to the children.

Vaclaim for repeal. Samuel M. Vaclaim, of Rosemont, chairman of the Board of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, favors the repeal of the prohibition amendment, according to an article in which he is quoted in the current Outlook and Independent. "I was for prohibition because it abolished the saloons and grog shops," he said. "The bootlegger is getting the revenue which should go, in part, to the Government."

Aid Federation. The sum of $260.85 has been turned over to the Main Line Federation of Churches by the Main Line Automobile Trade Association, an organization now defunct, which was formed for the purpose of promoting automobile shows on the Main Line. The announcement was made by the former secretary of the Trade Association, Ralph E. Springer, of Ardmore.

Named for Narberth woman. A scholarship fund given by the Daughters of the War of 1812 to the Moravian Seminary and College for Women at Bethlehem has been named the Elizabeth Shope fund. Mrs. Shope, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Lentz, is the wife of Dr. Samuel Z. Shope, of 108 Iona Avenue, Narberth.

Left four million. William Wonderly Fittler, of "Eagleview," Villanova, who died March 31, left an estate valued at approximately $4,000,000, according to the will probated this week at Norristown. Where Will You Be in Ten Years?

How quickly years fly by! All of us must grasp and hold every opportunity life affords. The next ten years of life may bring either success or failure. With the average luck, providing you add pluck, you can shape your life into a success. One of the first essentials is a connection with a good bank, one in which you can place the utmost confidence and where you can seek advice when your opportunity knocks. First, of course, you must prepare to make the most of whatever is offered by forming a connection with a sound experienced financial institution today.

Open both a savings and a checking account with this bank. Husband your resources carefully and you will soon be able to add a third account . . . an investment account.

KEEP IN LEAGUE RACE

By DAVE CASEY

An easy 7-1 victory last Saturday kept Gene Davis' Narberth baseball team in the thick of the Main Line League pennant fight, although Bryn Mawr continued to set the pace with a lopsided 18-3 victory over the Lansdowne club.

Berwyn, the Borough's ancient rival, and in the past one of the most formidable teams in the league, proved no match for the Davismen in any department of the game. Manager Bob Paiste produced a new pitcher named Burns whose offering seemed to suit the Narberth boys very well, as they swatted him for seventeen safe hits. The first three men in the Narberth batting order proved to be the prize batsmen, with Herb Baker leading with four safe blows, two doubles and two singles, and Francis and MacGregor having three safeties apiece. John Jackson, ace of the Narberth staff, meanwhile was pitching a steady game and retiring the Berwyn clubbers with ease, while the Narberth infield, conquering the fielding faults that have marred their play this year, gave their hurler admirable support. Both Bob Jones and Herb Baker gave a great exhibition of efficient fielding work, each handling seven chances without a miscue.

Narberth broke into the scoring column in the third inning when Harry Francis connected for a two-base hit and scored on Herb Baker's first single.

The Davismen then secured a commanding lead in the fifth which Jones opened with a long two-base drive into Windsor Avenue. Reynolds grounded to Burns and Jones was trapped between the bases and run down while Reynolds took second on the play. Narberth then broke loose with a fusillade of base hits, including a double by Baker, and singles by King, Francis, MacGregor and Slaughter, which resulted in four runs crossing the plate.

These tallies gave the Borough nine a safe lead that was never threatened but they added single runs to their total in both the sixth and seventh with Herb Baker's busy bat playing a part in both scores.

The visitors scored their only counter in the fourth when Crandle's grounder went through MacGregor. Scott followed with a single and Bob Paiste came through with a long double to left center, scoring Crandle. A fast relay, Francis to MacGregor to King, cut Scott down at the plate on this play and DeShula followed with a fly to Slaughter ending Berwyn's only serious run making threat. The box score:

Park's Hurling Features as Juniors Trim Black Hawks

By T. K. C.

While Narberth was easily defeating Berwyn last Saturday at the local playground the Juniors journeyed to foreign soil and also gained a victory. The Wayne Black Hawks were the victims and came out on the little end of the 8-3 score.

"Ace" Parks was on the mound for the Juniors and held the colored boys to four measly hits, retiring nine by the strikeout route as well as connecting for a timely triple and single driving in three of the eight runs. Humphries, the Junior's versatile star, who was patrolling the shortstop position, accepted five chances without a slip besides driving out a long double in the second inning.

Smith, the Hawk pitcher, although disposing of quite a few Juniors by the three swings and miss method, could not get the needed outs when men were on base. Two must be the colored lads' unlucky number as in the second, fifth, sixth and seventh innings the Juniors managed to slip across pairs of tallies which resulted in the eight runs.

The Juniors started in the second inning when, after two had been struck out, Strauss walked, Parks tripled and Humphries doubled for the first pair of runs. Coasting along until the fifth session they again broke loose when Rose's base on balls and three successive singles by Burgess, C. Heckel and D. Heckel brought across two more counters. In the sixth, with Hager and Gallagher on, "Jumbo" Rose doubled and accounted for two more runs and as it was now becoming a habit another pair was pushed across in the seventh to end the Juniors' scoring for the day.

For some unknown reason the Juniors handed the Hawks a run in the first inning but this lead was not long enjoyed by Wayne. In the seventh Parks faltered a bit and the Hawks pushed two more tallies in. However, the Junior pitcher with his comfortable lead, tightened and blanked them in the eighth and ninth.

Bacharach Giants Score Easy Win Over Local Club

By DAVE CASEY

Narberth suffered a serious relapse from the brilliant form exhibited Saturday against Berwyn and the Bacharach Giants had no trouble gaining a 6-1 triumph over the Davismen in a twilight game Monday evening.

Gillespie, visiting hurler, had an easy time with the Narberth batsmen blanking them with one hit up until the last inning when a single by Slaughter and a long two-base drive by Rubincam saved the local team from the ignominy of a shutout.

Bacharach, meanwhile was clouting the offerings of Bill Reynolds for nine safeties and also was receiving plenty of aid from the ragged fielding of the locals who had five errors to their discredit with the usually reliable Slaughter and MacGregor as chief offenders.

The fielding feature of the game was a sensational running catch by Stone of Rubincam's long drive in the fourth inning.

receive one of these much-desired checks.

The opportunity is here again, as the Narberth Building and Loan Association opens its new series on Thursday evening, the third of September, at Elm Hall on Forest Avenue, Narberth, from 7 until 9 o'clock when both short and long-term series will be offered to the public.

The short-term series meets the requirements of those who want to get their money in the shortest possible time, and runs for a period of a little more than six and one-half years. Each share in this series is two hundred dollars, and when the amount paid in per share added to the earnings it matured for two hundred dollars.

The long-term series is the old way, and takes a little more than eleven years for the amount paid in per share added to the earnings to reach two hundred dollars per share.

In the short-term series the monthly payments are two dollars per share, while the long-term series the monthly payments require only one dollar per share.

The entrance fee in both series is twenty-five cents a share and is only paid the first month.

On another page of this issue of "Our Town" an announcement is made by the Narberth Building and Loan Association of their new series and any of the officers or directors will be glad to explain the Building and Loan idea, and arrange for shares anyone desires.

It is not necessary to attend the monthly meetings of the association, as checks can be mailed the first of each month which will always be in time for the secretary to give proper credit on his books. Or payments can be left at either the Narberth National Bank or the Merion Title and Trust Company before the meeting.

Checks are always a receipt and many of the stockholders of the association have never seen a Building and Loan book from the time they start their payments until their check is sent them for maturity.

Maturity checks are mailed all over this country, as people move away but continue to carry their building and loan by mailing a check each month so it is not necessary that you reside in Narberth, as the only requirement is that you take care of your payments each month from anywhere you may happen to be.

The earnings of the association are over eight per cent, and the assets over a million dollars and the affairs are managed by directors elected by the stockholders, mostly residents of Narberth.

Football Practice at L. M. Opens Monday

The coaches will have three of last year's varsity men. They are Zengel, who will play at fullback, and Johnson and McMahon at end. Beside these mainstays there are a number of the reserve squad of last year who will probably break into varsity ranks this season. Among this group there are: Fox at center, Miller, tackle; Byrd, tackle; Goodshaw, end; Gane, guard; Bradford, end; Jackson, backfield; Flynn, backfield; Parkinson, backfield; Pachioli, backfield; Gilkeson, center; Gibson, guard; Thompson, tackle; Papaloni, backfield, and Heller, backfield.

Another way to burn the candle at both ends is to be the kind of driver that gets bumped at both ends.

Playground News

On Thursday, August 20, the annual tennis tournament for the junior girls was played off. Sixteen enthusiastic girls entered the competition as follows: Peggy Walzer, Frida Roessler, Alice Callahan, Betty Kriebel, Lois Maltby, Helen Hansell, Jeanette Murphy, Gladys Sabronitch, Anna Roessler, Jane Alaxender, Anne Pearson, Myrtle Gregory, Dot Abbott, Mary Duffy, Ethel Voight. In the semi-finals Lois Maltby won from Frida Roessler and Louise Kriebel defeated Betty Kriebel. In the final round Louise Kriebel defeated Lois Maltby with the score of 6-2.

The volley ball league ended on Tuesday, with Betty Kriebel's team taking the honors. The successful team included Jeanette Murphy, Gladys Sabronitch, Louise Kriebel, Betty Kriebel and Anna Roessler.

In the girls' baseball league the honors go to Lois Maltby's team, which consisted of Myrtle Gregory, Peggy Walzer, Jesse Maltby, Lois Maltby, Kay Wright and Laura Shiller.

The Wildcats, by defeating the Junior Aces, won the privilege of having their names engraved on the beautiful cup that is emblematic of the junior championship baseball team of Narberth. The final of the three-game series was a hectic affair. In the eighth inning the Wildcats were trailing 11-6 when they started to barrage the Aces' outfield with clean hits. Jack Kane having two triples with the bases loaded helped immensely in putting the game on ice. The Aces, trailing by three runs in the ninth, failed to overcome this handicap and went down to defeat.

The adult tennis tournament got off to a good start on Tuesday evening with thirty-two entries. By the looks of the play in the first round some tough and interesting matches are anticipated.

The following merchants contributed prizes for the children of the playground which are to be distributed at the Play Day exercises this afternoon: Davis', Haws' Hardware, Media Drug Store, White's Sweet Shop, Ye Oddity Shoppe, Hartzell's, Shea's Drug Store, The Flower Shop, Slavin's Sporting Goods.

Supervision Ends Saturday

Supervision of play and activities at the Narberth Community Playground ends this Saturday with the close of the regular season, it was announced by the Borough Recreation Board this week. The playground will remain open as long as weather permits, but there will be no supervision of activities.

Virtue is its own reward. Crime gets the publicity.

Father and Son on Opposing Teams as Narberth Loses

By DAVE CASEY

Narberth continued its dismal twilight playing when they lost to Jack Hart's Veterans on Wednesday evening by the score of 5-4 in an uninteresting game. The failure of the Davismen to hit with men on bases was responsible for the defeat as the home team scored but one earned run from eight hits off the pitching of Bob Kelly. The other three tallies were presented to them in the fifth inning by some ragged infield play by the visitors.

An unusual feature of the game was the sight of father and son playing on opposing teams. Barney Slaughter, Sr., father of the Narberth outfielder and a noted semi-pro star for many years around Philadelphia, played right-field for the visitors. The elder Slaughter, in spite of his 40-odd years, played a fine fielding game, slapped out a base hit and made a great throw from right-field in the sixth inning, rapping John Jackson at third base and breaking up a promising Narberth rally.

Small Loan Bank to Be Formed Here Soon

Main Line Thrift Corporation to Maintain Offices in Ardmore.

SUPPLEMENTS BIG BANKS

Plans were announced this week for the formation of the Main Line Thrift Corporation, a small-loan bank designed to care for borrowings of householders in smaller units than those handled by the regular banking institutions. It will be patterned after a number of others in the State following the plans developed by the Thrift and Loan Financing Corporation of Pittsburgh. Loans up to $300 are provided for. The office will be in Ardmore.

"This project will fill a place between the commercial banks, which lend money on a 6 per cent. basis, and the lean houses which exact the full legal rate of 42 per cent.," said one of the organizers yesterday. "It will lend money on collateral at a very low rate of interest, and will also provide for character loans at a slightly higher rate."

The announcement of the forming group says:

"The institution will be strictly a loan corporation and not a bank of deposit. Its business function is to make small loans, not exceeding $300, to deserving people in the community who have no other banking connections. It will be patterned very closely after the successful enterprises in Pittsburgh, Rochester, Monessen, Kittanning, Lansdale and other places, giving needed assistance to a class of people not usually served by the State or national banks. However, the small loan company does not enter into competition with the old-line banking business in any community.

"In some States such corporations are permitted to take deposits, hence the title small loan 'banks.' But, in the State of Pennsylvania, they are prohibited by law to take deposits, hence the name 'bank' is a misnomer.

However, this term 'bank' is used to discriminate between an institution of this character which charges a very low interest rate, and the companies that charge the legal rate of 42 per cent. on small loans."

The project, which will be sponsored in large measure by the regular Main Line banking institutions, has been studied by a small group for some weeks. Stock, to a probable capitalized limit of $50,000, will be offered to selected names.

Application for a charter is expected to be filed shortly. A general meeting of those interested in the operation of the small loan bank will be held in the near future.

A temporary committee has been formed and consists of the following: Temporary president, M. P. Clancy, vice president of the Merion Title and Trust Company; temporary secretary, E. W. Ehmann, district manager of the Philadelphia Electric Company; temporary treasurer, J. L. McCreay, cashier of the Narberth National Bank; Joseph Valentine, greens keeper of the Merion Cricket Club; D. Scheuer, Philadelphia advertising man, and H. Lester Haws, Ardmore attorney.

Cynwyd Girl, Mary Schoff, Married to Japanese

Miss Mary C. Schoff, of 110 Montgomery Avenue, Cynwyd, was married last Saturday to Kamenosuke Shinohara, a Japanese, at a magistrate's office in Philadelphia.

Miss Schoff, according to her father, Wilfred Schoff, of 3418 Baring Street, Philadelphia, has been interested in Japan and the Japanese for many years. She spent two years in Japan a short time ago visiting relatives there. A dancer herself, she has made a specialty of Japanese dancing and directed the dancing acts of the 1930 revue of the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd.

The couple expect to make their home in Japan as soon as Mr. Shinohara, who is a research engineer, winds up his affairs in this country.

In spite of all of the evidence to the contrary, there are still some people who believe in permanent marriages.

RE-NOMINATE Frank X. Renninger District Attorney

Mr. Renninger is opposed to the making of Judge Williams County Leader, to succeed Charles Johnson. Judge Williams will be the county boss, if the Johnson candidates are elected. No Judge should run a political machine.

If you nominate and elect Mr. Renninger, he will keep Judge Williams out of the District Attorney's office. He will not allow either judicial or political interference with the District Attorney.

Narberth Playground, Finest in Suburbs, Was Ugly Dump property and the work of filling and grading was begun.

But the acquisition of the land did not automatically make a playground. The Community Building, housing the Narberth Community Library, headquarters of the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion, Girl Scouts and other organizations was erected with funds from the sale of the old Y. M. C. A. building and has proved a most satisfying asset.

Whether the possession of a good ball field has been responsible for the large number of fine baseball teams and players that have been turned out in the Borough is a moot question, but a fine field has made the town baseball-minded as the large crowds that turn out regularly to witness the contests testify.

For a number of years baseball was practically the only sport that flourished on the fine piece of green-sward, once the unsightly dump. Then, through a reorganization of the Borough's Recreation Board, with the addition of men who conceived of their duty as more than caretakers of the Community Building and baseball field, things began to stir.

Adopt Recreation Plan

Chiefly through the work of Kenneth L. M. Pray, one of the new members of the board, a comprehensive plan was prepared whereby through the joint financial aid of the School Board and Council regular programs of supervised play with additional facilities could be made possible.

The results of the new program the first summer of its inauguration were most gratifying. Two fine tennis courts were added to the playground's equipment and other equipment was made available. The attendance increased by leaps and bounds. Under the able direction of Allan B. Weatherall, physical director at the Narberth School, activities at the playground flourished.

This year has seen a still further development of the playground's activities and usefulness. Through the generosity of the trustees of the old "Y" a fund of approximately $1000 was turned over to the Recreation Board, which with a little more, permitted the construction of the wading pool, and two additional tennis courts. These adjuncts have proved their popularity this summer. The "Y" trustees who made the gift are T. Noel Butler, Fletcher W. Stites, A. R. Justice and W. D. Smedley. Deceased members include Howard McCarter, Alexander C. Shand and A. J. Loos.

Adults Use It, Too

Another innovation at the playground this summer, and one which has proved most popular, was the extension of the hours to include the evenings at which time older folks have made good use of the tennis courts and the quoit pitching ground. Added interest has been provided for the youngsters by the arrangement of contests in baseball, volley ball and tennis with teams from other playgrounds. And in these competitive events the Narberth youths have scored a goodly share of victories.

For those who are interested in statistics, the attendance record of 9955 through Wednesday night, an average of well over 200 per day, should convince the most skeptical of the popularity of the playground.

The Recreation Board, to whom credit belongs for the splendid development of this playground, includes the following citizens: Dr. LeRoy A. King, chairman; Kenneth L. M. Pray, John R. Hall, Mrs. Fletcher W. Stites and William H. Fretz.

Mr. Weatherall's assistants in directing activities this season are Miss Marietta Bach, a University of Pennsylvania graduate, and Charles McGowan, a Temple undergraduate.

Story of Veterinary Corps Told at Rotary

and was later chosen one of the seven men invited into the Army. He was commissioned a major and attached to the Surgeon General's office. Under the direction of General Gorgas these seven men formed the nucleus of the great corps which was put in operation at the outbreak of the war. They created "Regulation 70," which Army men refer to as the "Veterinary Bible."

Then followed an uphill fight against poor equipment, untrained men and insufficient supplies. Dr. Staley acted as inspector for the southeast district, comprising thirteen cantonments and their attached corrals or remounts. Sanitary conditions were improved and a permanent corps created.

The inspection of meat and milk supplies was then taken over by the corps, which by that time had added a number of enlisted men. "There was no beef scandal in this war," Dr. Staley remarked.

A difficult and successful campaign to eradicate the dread disease, glanders, which has occurred in every war, was pursued, and at the close of hostilities a disease-free herd of horses and mules were discharged from service.

Dr. Staley was introduced by Dr. Ezra S. Deubler, also a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School, who gave a brief sketch of the speaker's life work.

The young college graduate is all degreed up with no place to go.

It is better to pick your friends than it is to have them pick you.

A will in the form of a letter to a friend, written by David L. King, late of Narberth, on a letterhead of a Philadelphia hotel, was admitted to probate at Norristown on Tuesday. It bequeathed all his possessions to his widow, Elizabeth H. King.
